man of the Republican convention, and on taking the chair delivered an address on the career of the Republican party, saying in part:

With the platform and the candidates of this convention, we are about to ask a renewed expression of popular confidence in the Republican party.

Have not the American people reason for satisfaction and pride in the conduct of their government since the election of 1900, when they rendered their judgment of approval upon the first Administration of President McKiniey? Have we not had an honest Government from the collection of their claims, an appeal by the collection of their claims, an appeal to present and competent? Can any private business be pointed out in which lapses from honesty have been so few and so trilling proportionately, as in the public service of the United States? And when they have occurred, have not the offenders been relenticestly prosecuted and sternly punished without regard to political or personal relations? Have not the laws been collected and sternly punished without regard to political or personal relations? Have not the have been collected and sternly punished without regard to political or personal relations? Have not the laws been collected and sternly punished without regard to political or personal relations? Practical Trust Busting.

At every election, the regulation of trusts had been the football of camtribunal was accepted by the other pow paign oratory and the subject of many insincere declarations.

Our Republican administration has taken up the subject in a practical, sensible way as a business rather than a sible way as a business rather than a political question, saying what it really meant, and doing what lay at its hand to be done to accomplish effective regu-lation.

to be done to accomplish effective regulation.

The Attorney General has gone on in the same practical way, not to talk about the trusts but to proceed against the trusts by law for their regulation. In separate suits fourteen of the great railroads of the country have been restrained by injunction from giving illegal rebstes to the favored shippers, who by means of them were driving out the smaller shippers and monopolizing the grain and meat business of the country. The beef trust was put under injunction. The officers of the railroads engaged in the cotton carrying pool, affecting all that great industry of the South, were indicted and have abandoned their combination.

The Northern Securities Company which undertook by combining in one ownership the capital stocks of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroads to end traffic competition in the Northwest, has been destroyed by a vigorous prosecution expedited and brought to a speedy and effective conclusion in the Supreme Court under the act of February 11, 1903.

Postal Service Purified.

Postal Service Purified.

The postal service has been extended and improved. Its revenues have increased from $76,000,000 in 1895 to $95,000,000 in 1899, and $144,000,000 in 1994. In dealing with these vast sums, a few cases of peculation, trifling in amount and by subordinate officers, have occasional subordinate officers, have occasional subordinate officers, have occasional services and subordinate officers, have occasional services and subordinate officers, have occasional services and subordinate officers. The present Administration has reduced taxation, reduced the public subordinate of trusts, fostered business, promoted agriculture, built up the navy reorganized the army, resurrected the millitia system, inaugurated a new policy for the preservation and reclamation of public lands, given civil government. cases of peculation, trifing in amount and by subordinate officers, have occurred there as they occur in every business. Neither fear nor favor, nor political or personal influence has availed to protect the wrongdoers. Their acts have been dismissed from their places, prosecuted criminally, indicted, many of them tried, and many of them convicted.

When the last national convention met the Philippines also were under military rule. The last vestige of insurrection has been swept away. With their work accomplished, over 5,000 American troops have been broughtout the archipelago. Peace and order and iustice prevail.

A complete census has been taken, designed to be there as it was in Cuba, the basis for representative government; and the people of the islands will soon proceed under provisions already made by Congress to the election of a representative assembly, in which for the principle of archipelago. SHOWS SHARP PERCEPTION

The manner of the lathod celegation to St. Louis eight years ago who did not follow Teller, of Colorado, when he led the tree silver vote, is here looking on. Shoup is a man with a history. He is one of the few surviving original frontiersmen. Years ago his entire family was murdered by Indians. Shoup didn't sit and bemoan his loss. He took his rife and trailed the gang of assassins until he had secured the scalps yet, preserved as proofs of his prowess as a frontlersman, and to show the quality of his vengeance.

In the political 'has-been' list there also figure conspicuously Perry S. Heath, whose light went out in the fog of the Postoffice investigation; Charles G. Dawes, Comptroller of the Currency under McKinley, and one of Hanna's young reliables; and Lemuel Eli Quigg, of New York. Heath is not here at all, while Dawes and Quigg wander about like lost sheep. In addition to being a master of the art of indecision, Senator Fairbanks is a person of extremely correct life. He was badly shaken up in an accident reently and in telling of the incident afterward he said:

Members of Board of Education Favor the Location in Preference to Others Offered.

The new school building for which $30,000 was appropriated by Congress in the District appropriation act for the fiscal year, 1905, to be located in the Sixth division, will built on a site bounded by Nineteenth Street, Benning Road, and Gates Street, and the ground de-voted to it will be 49.200 square feet.

The price of the ground, according to the Engineer Commissioner's recommendation that it be purchased, is $11,610. Two half lots will be purchased for alley uses. Consequently all the land pur-chased will be 51,600 square feet.

A Desirable Site.

Colonel Biddle, in deciding on this site, says it is the most desirable one he ould find for this division, there having been only one other choice.
